GREEK PLAY BY CLUB WOMEN

WESTCHESTER CLUB TO GIVE THE "ANTIGONE" OUTDOORS.

6 Second of a Series of Classic Drama to Ba Produced on Memorial Day—The Play Staged and Acted Without Pro-teriogal Halp—Congestions in Costume. The art section of the Westchester Woman's Club of Mount Vernon will present the "Antigone" of Sophocles on the after-noon of Momorial Day on Elmsmere Hill, the acropolis of the town.

Mrs. Edward Gay, under whose direction the members of the cast have been studying the tragedy for nearly a year, says that the way in which the clubwomen have absorbed the true Greek spirit is nething short of unarvellous.

We thought it would be better to give it in English," she said yesterday, when she was intercepted on her way to an interview with the stage carpenter, "because Greek is with most of us so much a thing of the past that even the reading of it in that tongue would resolve itself into a mere matter of syntax, declensions and con-jugations rather than an intelligent study

"We settled upon Decoration Day for the production of the play," continued Mrs. Gsy. "because the theme which Sophocles has so magnificently worked out as to do with the sacred duty of reverent tribute to those who have fallen in battle We have carefully gone over twelve ansiations, finally selecting Palmer's as

We have carefully gone over twelve translations, finally selecting Falmer's as the one best adapted to our purpose. It is in a beautiful rhythmical prose, devoid of slaboration, which renders as adequately as English can the noble simplicity of the original verse.

Antigone is the second in a series of Greek plays which our club proposes to produce with the object of making ourselves and our friends better acquainted with the classics. Three years ago we gave the Alcestes of furpides, and next year we shall undertake the Frometheus of Eschylus. The two which the Athenians witnessed centuries age as is possible at the present day. That is the reason why we are to nave this performance in the open air. We cannot very well manage an amphibiants, but we shall have the seats arranged in a semicrole and there will be no cases. The after will be placed on the ground, and behind it will be the palace step. We have of course chosen the less that we could find for the cast, with a rehearsing we have always endeavored to superdinate mere theatrical effects to superdinate mere the sales were an english inclugence to sent the sales were an in flount. The women have had no prefessional coaching, Mrs. Gay having assumed the responsibility of the literary side of the interpretation, while Mrs. Roger Sherman is both Antigone and stage manager.

Mrs. Gay says that all the actresses are so enthusiastic over their parts that the possibility of a hitch in the public presentation has not even been considered. The only rift in the lute is a slight fear lest, should the day prove windy, the voices will not carry well.

The persons in the play are:

AN INSURANCE BILL VETOED

But the Restrictions Imposed, the Gover-ner Declares, "Plainly Transcend Con-stitutional Limits"—Other Fatal Ob-jections to the Bill Pointed .Out. ALBANT, May 23.—With his veto of the C. F. Foley mutual fire insurance bill Gov. Hughes filed this memorandum:

This bill provides for the admission of foreign mutual fire insurance companies to do business in this State upon complying with certain conditions, including the payment of a tax of I per cent. on gross premiums for the benefit of associations of firemen. It has long been the policy of the State to secure to volunteer firemen the proceeds of a tax on fire insurance premiums in recognition of the important public services which the firemen reader. It appears that (owing to the extent to which so-called factory mutual fire insurance companies organized in other States write insurance upon property within this State without being admitted to do business here) the amount received from the tax has considerably been diminished, and the purpose of this bill is to facilitate the admission of insurance companies to do business within the State and thus to secure avails of that tax upon the premiums.

But there are fatal objections to this bill. While the intent was to admit to this State certain companies of excellent standing the bill is so drawn as to allow all mutual fire insurance concerns to do business here under a certificate of the Superintendent of Insurance but without proper safeguard.

Thus it is made mandatory upon the Superintendent of Insurance to permit foreign mutual fire insurance companies to transact business within this State without other safeguard as to its resources than an affidavit that it maintains a reserve fund equal to 50 per cent. of its unearned premium. This is obviously insufficient. Other companies doing business here are charged in estimating their liabilities with a sum squal to the total unsared premiums on the policies in force. And stock companies from other States, in common with our own, are required to have a capital of not less than $200,000. It is impossible to avoid the conclusion that this statute would throw our State open to com-companies from other States, we must not be so solicitous to secure the advantages of having the safe companies come in that we shall open the door to all sorts of irre-sponsible concerns and invite them to prey upon the public.

The bill further provides that no corporation organized or doing business within this State and no partnership shall "suffer this State and no partnership shall "suffer or permit its property to be insured" in any foreign mutual fire insurance company which has not been admitted to do business within this State unless it shows "in prescribed manner" that it has been unable to obtain its insurance from mutual companies lawfully deing business here. In other words, the members of a New York firm are made guilty of a misdemeanor if they make a contract in Massachusetts with a Massachusetts statute would throw our State open to com-panies without proper financial responsi-bility, to the great injury of our sitizens.

The bill provides that after one year the Superintendent of Insurance shall renew the authority if he is satisfied that the com-pany may be trusted. But he has no dis-cretion as to the first year if the required papers are filed and the fee of $50 is paid, and his action during subsequent years would not improbably be governed by regard to the conditions which the Legislature itself had imposed for original admission. As-had imposed for original admission. As-suming that it is advisable to admit mutual setts corporation for the insurance of their property in this State, unless they comply with the prescribed conditions. This is plainly unconstitutional.

It has nothing to do with the restrictions which the Legislature has a right to impose to prevent foreign companies, their agents or process, from doing an unauthorized business in this State. That is a different matter. The bill undertakes to deal directly with the concerns insuring their property and entitled to make contracts for that purpose in other States with companies there lawfully doing business. The provision was doubtless regarded as essential to the purpose of the bill, because the object is twofold, to wit, to have the foreign mutual companies come into the State and prevent New York concerns from insuring in them if they do not. However desirable it may be to secure adequate support for our firemen's organizations, that result manifestly cannot be attained by a measure of this sort, which in the acops of its restrictions plainly transcends constitutional limits.
